I. COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This is a theoretical-practical course aimed at helping future teachers understand the role of culture in the language learning process in order to enhance the learning experience. The relationship between language, culture, and society will be examined from several perspectives such as, but not limited to, linguistics and cultural anthropology. This course has a low virtual component that will allow students to access the supplementary material used by the instructor, do online assessments, and to have an efficient means of communication. A small number will be carried out online as indicated in the course calendar.

II. GENERAL OBJECTIVES:

1. Examine different theoretical approaches explaining the relationships between language, culture, and society. (cognitive)
2. Analyze the relationships between language, culture, and society and their implications for foreign language teaching and learning. (cognitive)
3. Promote awareness of cultural differences when teaching-learning a language from a multicultural point of view. (cognitive-attitudinal)
4. Apply the theoretical principles studied in the course for the design of a teaching proposal. (cognitive-attitudinal)

III. SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES:

1. Recognize the relationship between language teaching, power, and cultural identity. (attitudinal)
2. Assume a multicultural approach for language teaching-learning. (cognitive-attitudinal)
3. Analyze sociolinguistic proposals for the integration of culture in the language classroom. (cognitive)
4. Develop a rationale for integrating culture into the language classroom. (cognitive-attitudinal)
5. Develop specific activities for teaching English as a foreign language according to a multicultural approach. (cognitive-attitudinal)

6. Demonstrate understanding of the principles behind the main trends in teaching-learning another culture. (cognitive-attitudinal)
7. Explain the relationships between language, society and culture by conducting short pertinent research. (cognitive)
8. Value the principles of multicultural education as an asset for Costa Rican education. (attitudinal)

IV. CONTENTS:

All contents are divided into four main issues:

1. Definition of culture
  - The integration of culture, language and society
  - Frameworks to describe a cultural experience
  - The dimensions of culture and cultural knowings
2. Language and culture
  - Pragmatics and communication
  - Cultural authenticity and variation (Cross-cultural, intercultural & multicultural experiences)
  - Sociocultural strategies for a dialogue of cultures
3. Power and language use
  - Societal roles and their relationship with communication
4. Culture models and language teaching
  - Culture learning processes and outcomes
  - Assessment of cultural content in EFL courses and materials
  - Guidelines for providing culturally sensitive feedback
  - Principles for the teaching of English as an international language

These contents will be approached from a critical perspective considering professional, ethical and moral implications for the teaching-learning of English in our national contexts. Most course discussions will be oriented towards an analysis of the programs of the Ministry of Public Education in Costa Rica. However, there will also be room for other areas of individual interest according to the students' own professional needs or orientations.

V. METHODOLOGY AND ACTIVITIES:

The instructor will implement different tasks in order to guarantee students' involvement in the learning process, varying from lectures to classroom projects and field work. The activities used in the course will emphasize reflection and critical analysis of the processes involved in the acquisition of a second culture.

The role of the instructor consists of lecturing, coaching, and/or advising the group to develop activities, designing assessment tasks and providing students with supplementary materials when needed. In addition, the instructor will provide cultural experiences and guide students to analyze them in order to achieve an understanding of cultures.

Students will be responsible for their own learning in cooperation with the instructor. They are expected to reflect on their own cultural experiences and on their current understanding of cultural differences. Students should conduct additional research to expand their cultural schemata, especially when comparing cultural beliefs, practices, and values. They are expected to maintain a non-judgmental and respectful attitude towards cultural differences, and demonstrate understanding of ethical principles applicable to culture learning and intercultural experiences. With the knowledge gained in the course, students are expected to create a proposal for teaching culture in the class and to assess the cultural component in books or language programs, such as those of the Ministry of Education.

VI. EVALUATION:

The purpose of this course evaluation is to construct not one but some perspectives about understanding the most common teachers' tasks at school related to language, culture, and society. Therefore, evaluation goes beyond assigning grades; although, it is one of the forms it takes. The main intention here is to construct bridges for ideas, perspectives, and projects under the assumption that theory plays a great deal in constructing those bridges.

The evaluation will include both formative and summative approaches.

Formative: Due to the nature of the course, students will constantly engage in reflection tasks. Through negotiation and reflection, students will be expected to develop a culturally sensitive attitude encompassing respect for their own culture and for the new culture, without making overt positive or negative assertions about one or the other, and understanding that each consists of a mosaic of other subcultures. When sharing or discussing critical incidents, students will be encouraged to analyze the nature of the communicative acts instead of making value judgements. Demonstrating the ability to carry out the analysis and putting into practice the required negotiation and reflection skills will be expected at all times.

Summative: The weight of the proposed tasks is the following:

GLOBAL CLASSROOM AND RELATED ASSIGNMENTS	20 %
EXAMS	30 (15% each)
RESEARCH PROJECT	30%
TEACHING PROPOSAL	20%

Global classroom and related assignments:

The Global Classroom project will be carried out with an international partner (Japan) and students will be asked to complete related assignments to enrich the exchange, interact with other students abroad, and reflect on their own learning experiences. These assignments may vary according to the topics in the course. Possible activities include short reflections, forums, and/ or brief presentations. The instructor will provide the guidelines for each assignment at least a week in advance. There will be a minimum of four activities. Students may hand in a printed or digital version of the assignments as required by the instructor.

Exams:

There will be two partial exams in the course. Each exam will have a theoretical and a practical component. The items for the theoretical section may include reflection questions about the readings. The practical component may include problem solving tasks and evaluation of teaching material. Students' writing skills and use of appropriate APA format will be part of the grade as the course belongs to the upper level of the program.

Research project:

This task consists of examining textbooks independently of teaching practices in order to assess their cultural content and make recommendations for improving the teaching of culture with the particular set of materials. The project consists of a written report and an oral presentation. The guidelines will be discussed in the course.

Teaching proposal:

In small groups, students will design and teach a lesson where they will put into practice a strategy for teaching culture. After the lesson, they will create a pedagogical proposal to upgrade the strategy based on the results of its implementation. The proposal will be presented in a poster session and accompanied by a brief report.
